

Notes:

(7) Each year the ALD publishes a Yearbook, with a directory of members and their contact details (but not addresses). If you wish we can also include a brief entry showing your recent credits or the kind of work you are interested in. Please keep entries short and concise. The information will also be included on the ALD web site in the Members' area.

(8) Month and year you expect to graduate. Your Student member status will end the following April and you will become an Associate Member.

(9) Which Year you are currently studying in, and how long is the course.
(for example year 2 of a 3 year course)

(10) You can change this setting at any time by going to your page on the ALD web site or by contacting the ALD office.

(11) Please ask your course tutor to read and sign this section.

Important Note

In order to avoid confusion for both the association and potential employers, we have adopted the Equity practice of ensuring that members must join with a unique name. If we already have a member with the name you have applied in we will contact you to discuss the options.

Additional Notes

To qualify for Sponsored Student Membership, we require the applicant is studying on a course with an element of lighting design at a college that is a member of the Conference of Drama Schools.

Your membership of the ALD will be paid by a corporate sponsor for a period of one year.

Students who are already on the scheme must re-apply for Sponsorship each year, otherwise they will have to pay the standard £20.00 a year membership fee.

In the April following the completion of your course you will be made an Associate member.

Please be aware that due to the large number of applicants it might take a while before we are able to post Membership packs. If you wish us to confirm receipt of your application form please email the office.

Many of our Corporate members would like to let you know about special events and promotions that they have organised. They are given the opportunity to mail our membership with information about these events and other products and services by both post and email. Email addresses are kept by the ALD office and not given to corporate members.

The Association also sends news and meetings via email.

We ask our corporate members to not abuse the use of the mailing list of our members, but if you feel that the amount of mail received is excessive, please inform the office and will remove your name from the list.

Please tick boxes if you DO NOT wish to be sent information.

To the course Tutor:(11)

The Association of Lighting Designers is the professional body representing the interests of Lighting Designers working in the performing arts. Its aims are to further the art of lighting design and to raise the professional status of the Lighting Designer as a member of the creative team.

We would like to ask you to help with this student's application for membership of the Association. To qualify for Sponsored Student Membership, we require confirmation that the student is on a course with an element of lighting design at a college that is a member of the Conference of Drama Schools. If this is the case, we would be grateful if you could add your signature below in support of their application.

You may also be interested to know that for £20 a year your college library can be an ALD member and receive our publications including our magazine Focus, and information about ALD activities. If you have any questions about this or about the Association generally, please contact the office.
